Learn About Global Money Week

What is Global Money Week (GMW)?

Global Money Week (GMW) is a worldwide celebration with local and regional events and activities aimed at inspiring children and youth to learn about money, saving, creating livelihoods, gaining employment, and becoming an entrepreneur.

What is the goal of GMW?

While the celebrations of GMW are concentrated in one week every year, the ideas, events, and lessons learned are intended to have a long-lasting impact. The goal is to promote the importance of financial literacy and the inclusion and empowerment of youth, in an effort to reshape finance and tackle the poverty trap that results from inadequate resources, knowledge, and education.

When is GMW taking place?

Global Money Week is held annually during the 2nd week of March. GMW 2016 celebrations will take place worldwide from March 14-20.

Who organizes GMW?

It is coordinated, supported and facilitated by the Child & Youth Finance International (CYFI) Team, but the events themselves are organized by schools, universities, financial institutions, government ministries, central banks, members of the civil society and communities of active youth worldwide.

Why celebrate GMW?

Your participation brings the world one step closer to ensuring financial inclusion for every child with access to financial services, the ability to develop money-managing skills, and the opportunity to have a reliable source of income.

Global Money Week 2016 Theme

GMW 2016's theme is 'Take Part. Save Smart!'

This year, Global Money Week continues the focus on the importance of saving – taking part in smart savings behavior helps children and youth to secure their futures.

Why save smart? Because: it is important for children and youth to build clever cost-careful habits from an early age in order to avoid financial exclusion and develop key money-managing skills for later in life.

Taking part in smart saving today offers a safer tomorrow; but how can we achieve this? Empower children and youth!

Global Money Week is an opportunity for everyone to get involved:

- Businesses and corporate companies - engage with future customers and encourage economic inclusion
- Policy makers and financial institutions - enable children and youth to access financial services
- Civil society and schools - organize money awareness events in your communities
- Parents and families - talk about money management with your kids
- Children and youth - have fun learning!

Take Part and help the next generation to Save Smart!

SECTION 2

Suggestions for Your Activities

Take Part! Begin a Local Activity. Join the Global Activities! Or, do both!

Civil society plays a key role in promoting the financial education of children and youth worldwide. There are many ways how you as a civil society representative can get involved in Money Week Celebrations 2016.

Offer a series of lessons or workshops

Offer a series of lessons or workshops that will help to empower kids, with practical skills involving money and livelihoods. Examples could include: 'how to open a bank account', 'how to balance a check book', 'starting a business', 'applying for a job', etc. Hold an informative workshop on the financial products banks offer, and what they can mean for young people.

EXAMPLE CASE STUDY

Camfed, Children International (CI), Philippines

In Tabaco, CI held a 2-day Financial Literacy workshop with the aim of providing the opportunity for youth to analyze financial issues affecting them and identify concrete steps and learn technical skills to respond to these issues. A resource person from the Department of Agriculture, Bicol University and a practicing entrepreneur coached participants on the following topics: factors affecting financial condition among Filipinos; financial values (excerpts from the 8 Secrets of the Truly Rich); and financial planning.

Bogtong Elementary School, Arimbay High School, Homapon High School and Pawa High School in Legazpi were involved in advocacy activities for financial education and savings (presentations, plays, poster making, and essay writing). They also played games that strengthen financial skills of young people: 'Finding Resources Game' and Creating Enterprise Proposals.

In Manila, high school students were taught about saving and spending, as well as planning and budgeting. They also participated in an international Aflatoun skype call with youth from the Netherlands, Bosnia and Zimbabwe.

In Quezon City, a film that promoted savings and financial planning was shown to children and youth.

EXAMPLE CASE STUDY

Camfed, Zimbabwe

In Zimbabwe, core trainers among CAMA members joined Community Development Committee members from the Ministry of Women Affairs in 24 districts to monitor Learner Guides' businesses and offered onsite financial management training, including bookkeeping and cash flow monitoring. All of Zimbabwe's 1,700 Learner Guides received financial awareness trainings, with an emphasis on the importance of saving. Once their financial training was complete, the Learner Guides visited local schools to share their knowledge.

Operation Hope, United States

2600 students in Atlanta, Baltimore, Denver, Los Angeles and Philadelphia took part in HOPE Business In A Box trainings during the week, which are four hour primer courses on entrepreneurship and business management. Students learned the process of turning personal interests, dreams and skills into viable business ideas, while learning the art of pitching their ideas. These courses were taught by local professionals and business owners and help kids develop skills in public speaking, critical thinking, and project management.

Engage with policy makers and youth

Hold a public meeting or event to raise awareness about child and youth finance issues. Organize a time for sharing, where young people can meet, hear from, and share ideas with leaders and policy makers in your area. Raise awareness about the need for financial education and inclusion for young people on a radio or TV program. Use your facilities to offer youth-focused seminars or debates about money management, saving, investing or entrepreneurship. Have someone speak about their career, emphasizing topics such as personal development, responsibility, learning, creativity, teamwork, savings, planning and money. Get young people engaged in the discussion about money by holding formal debates that will inspire them to express their opinions about the topic.

Junior Achievement (JA), Paraguay

Junior Achievement Paraguay in collaboration with the Central Bank and the Minister of Education participated in different activities from the 9th till the 17th of March. Activities during this year included workshops, visits to school, a national youth assembly, radio spots, launch of campaigns by implementing partners and a number of many other activities with the goal of reaching around 10 000 children and youth. As a special event, Junior Achievement launched different entrepreneurship campaigns.

World Vision, Burundi

This year, Burundi joined the celebration of Global Money Week for the first time. World Vision Burundi through its current program “Literacy Boost” conducted an awareness raising activities and banks visits. This allowed children from diverse background to learn and get more information about financial institution’s operations and they were challenged to start thinking about securing their future.

👍 Approach well-known people

Approach a local or national celebrity to endorse your GMW activities. If your organization already has a public-figure as an ambassador, they may be willing to get involved in your events or raise awareness on the importance of financial education and inclusion of young people in your country!

👍 Hold a child-friendly march

Hold a child-friendly march, parade or fair in your city to raise awareness about the issues related to children and finance. You can include fun games and activities which teach financial lessons, to appeal to youth.

👍 Organize a letter-writing campaign

Encourage young people to write letters to banks, elected representatives, ministers of education, and other relevant or influential stakeholders, asking them to do more about financial education and inclusion for youth, and send these letters on their behalf. Letter-writing campaigns helps to encourage the political will needed for policy-makers to reshape finance and focus on the economic inclusion of young people.

👍 Plan an art exhibition

Collaborate with artists, musicians, storytellers and other creative people in your community to organize an art exhibition highlighting the need for financial education for kids. Get young people involved by turning it into a contest or art competition!

👍 Plan an ‘Opening Saving Accounts’ event

Create an event where you distribute forms for children to fill out and open their own savings accounts. Contact a bank and get them to sponsor the event!

👍 Tip! Collaborate with local schools and youth-based organizations – align your GMW efforts with other relevant organizations and institutions in your community or country, to boost the impact of your events and activities and promote the importance of financial education and inclusion of youth.

👍 Play financial games with youth groups

Invite youth to come and play different financial board games with your team. It is a fun way to talk about money matters and learn more about finance.

World's Largest Piggy bank

Are you up for the challenge? We are looking for the most creative Piggy Bank, so use your imagination to come up with a save-tastic design of your own!

Ring Around the World

As part of the Global Money Week tradition, Stock Exchanges around the world will launch the GMW celebrations by inviting children and youth to ring their stock exchange bell! Ring Around the World kickstarts the global celebrations for the Week of financial education, inclusion, and livelihood awareness – and this year we are planning for the bell to ring louder and further than ever!

38 Stock Exchanges celebrated and took part in GMW2015.

SECTION 4

Plan a Great Global Money Week!

If you would like to plan an event during Global Money Week, this section provides guide to help plan your activities!

Step 1 Create a Planning Team

Establishing a team of dedicated colleagues and volunteers who will help the event run smoothly. If your company has a marketing or communications department, they could help to plan and promote your GMW events.

Step 2 Choose an Event!

Schedule brainstorm session about the type of activities and events you could do during GMW2016. Feel free to get inspired by the activities mentioned earlier in this Toolkit, or come up with new ideas. Most of all – have fun with it!

This is also a great opportunity to involve children and youth into the planning to get their ideas on what they would like to do during the Week. Raise awareness amongst colleagues, partners, friends and family, in advance of the celebrations.

Step 3 Plan the Event!

Consider the logistics of the event, including transportation, venue, equipment, and budget. Discuss ways to save money and involve potential partners. Make a checklist to ensure all factors have been considered to make the event a success!

When choosing the date of your event, look for possibilities to coordinate with local organizations, institutions, and other individuals and groups. Send out Save the Date!

Step 4 Promote the Event

When publicizing your Global Money Week 2016 events, it is vital to promote it to your target audience effectively! From a large campaign to achieve wide-reaching exposure, to narrower outreach methods to appeal to a specific group, it is important to keep your target audience in mind.

Why not have a look at some of the promotional banners and posters on GMW website, as well as resources for contacting local press and financial institutions. You can find these here: www.globalmoneyweek.org under 'Resources' section Alternatively, you could ask colleagues or volunteers to create promotional posters as a pre-GMW event.

👉 Tips for planning your GMW event!

- Save the Date: March 14-20, 2016. Don't forget to schedule GMW to your annual event calendar!
- Contact your affiliated institutions, businesses, sponsors, and schools to inform them about the Week, and get them involved in GMW celebrations.
- Take fun photos and videos with GMW logos and share them with CYFI Team. GMW logos are downloadable here: www.globalmoneyweek.org 'Resources' section
- Get inspired by earlier GMW celebrations, by reading GMW Report 2015, GMW Report 2014 and GMW Report 2013. You can find these reports here: www.globalmoneyweek.org 'Resources' section

Step 5 Hosting the Event

Ensuring that the tasks of logistics, outreach, volunteer coordination and documentation are successfully accomplished guarantees a fun, educational, and ultimately successful event.

Make sure to take photos and videos! Share them online! Most importantly, have fun!

Step 6 Sharing Your Experience

Do not forget to collect and share media with CYFI and others. Remember, the Global Money Week photo, video or message with the most likes and shares on Facebook or re-tweets on Twitter may be featured on the CYFI website!

Having youth, colleagues, and associates reflect on their experiences is a good way to consolidate their learning. Encourage them to think about the financial processes they observe and experience themselves.

“Today we are taking our first steps as entrepreneurs. We will have a chance to test our business plans which we have so carefully crafted against the real market place. At the end of the day, some of us will be disappointed because of lower sales than we had anticipated, and some of us will be exhilarated because our revenues will surpass our expectation, but all of us by the end of this day will have learned an important lesson: earning money is a challenging task and those who persevere through their creativity, honesty and hard work will be the ones to ultimately succeed.”

– Otar Grigoryan, youth participant from Armenia, GMW2015

👍 How to work with the media?

Through media coverage you can promote the important work you are doing in your community, expand the reach of your message, and spread the word about Global Money Week 2016!

- Identify the story you want to tell – before you begin developing media outreach materials, consider your goals in gaining media coverage and define the focus you want to have on your activities.
- Communicate your message effectively – be prepared to tell your story and respond to questions. All media outreach materials should be clear, concise and persuasive, with a core set of messages.
- Create media outreach materials – different types of materials are used for different media outlets; create a live-read radio script for on-air announcements about your event, prepare a ready-made blog post article, or use the press release included in our press pack as an example of outreach material for printed publications.
- Create a media list for contact – contact media outlets and reporters directly to let them know about your GMW activities. Be strategic and pick those who are most likely to cover your event, and send tailored outreach materials by email to these reporters and outlets.

- Prepare a media kit for journalists – include all media materials you have prepared as a background to your business, organization or institution, your event, and Global Money Week. Media kits can be handed out before or during your event, or to those who are unable to attend but have responded to media outreach efforts.

👉 Tip! Keep in mind ‘pitch points’ when creating any outreach materials; the three or four most compelling points to share that will make someone want to learn more about your event, about GMW 2016, and about the Child and Youth Finance Movement.

For more information on working with media, visit www.globalmoneyweek.org ‘Media’ section

“I am very satisfied with the way the activity was conducted. I believe that the large number of young people, by taking part in this activity, ‘woke up’ and started thinking about finances.”

– Marina Šukovi, Gacko. Youth participant from Bosnia and Herzegovina, GMW 2015

“The visit to banks was really appreciated by headmasters in schools, and professional training centers. It widened the vision of young people about employment opportunities in banks. Children were amazed to discover video cameras in banks and get opportunities to talk to bank managers and other staff members. Some of them entered a bank for the first time, opened a bank account and got to save for their personal savings account.”

– Spotlight from Togo, GMW 2013

CYFI Youth is a platform initiated by Child & Youth Finance International for children and youth to take action in reshaping the future of finance. It allows for youngsters to stay informed about the latest Child & Youth Finance Movement activities around the globe. CYFI Youth also serves as a bridge between young people and adults as youth are encouraged to utilize this platform to share their experiences and voice their opinions.

Here youth can get to know about CYFI Youth Meetings and Awards, the CYFI Youth Committee and internships at CYFI.
